

PART OF FURNITURE is moved out and away at Stonefort yesterday after second story floor of Hal Webber's two-story brick building collapsed Thursday night. The furniture that was removed was taken out by ladder from second floor windows. Mr. and Mrs. Webber, who lived upstairs, were at home when the floor collapsed but managed to get out safely.

Vote April 8 In Primary

State, County, Dist. Nominees Will Be Named

Saline county will join Tuesday in a statewide primary election at which party nominees for two state offices and various district and county posts will be named.

Illinois will choose nominees for state treasurer and state superintendent of public instruction. The 25th Congressional district will name party choices for congressmen, the 51st Senatorial district will nominate for state senator and the 59th Representative district will nominate for state representative. Saline county lies in these three districts.

In addition the county will nominate for county clerk, county judge, county treasurer, sheriff and county superintendent of schools.

Both parties have the same primary races for county offices—for clerk, treasurer and sheriff. There are no primary contests for judge or superintendent of schools.

County Races

For Democratic nomination for clerk, Maynard Cannon and Maud Curry are both seeking the post. In the Republican race it is Ewell Winkelman and Robert H. Holmes.

For county treasurer Delmas D. Miley and Muriel Holland are seeking the Republican nomination with William T. (Wee) Barrett and Leo Richmond in the race for the Democratic nomination.

Only two Republicans, Henry C. Dempsey and Henry DeVar, seek the nomination for sheriff, but in the Democratic primary for this office are seven, as follows: James B. (Doc) Woolard, H. B. (Bernard) Tanner, Lowell L. Langford, James L. Atterbury, C. J. Cummins, Charles J. Shanks and Charles M. Donelson.

Without primary opposition are Trafton Dennis, Democrat, and Jack C. Morris, Republican, for county judge; and Paul McKinnis, Republican, and C. Raymond (Pete) Gardner, for county superintendent of schools.

Congress Race

Kenneth Gray, West Frankfort, finishing up his second term as congressman, is alone in the field for the Democratic nomination in his race for re-election. The Republicans have two Williamson

Death Takes Mrs. Charles Hilliard, 87; Funeral Sunday

Mrs. Cora Lee Hilliard, 87, widow of the late Charles Hilliard and a former resident of 813 North Main street, Harrisburg, died in the Pearce hospital in Eldorado at 3:10 p. m. Friday. She had been a resident of the Galatia nursing home for about two years and had only been seriously ill for two days. Death was not expected.

Mrs. Hilliard was preceded in death by her daughter, Mrs. Catherine Lee Whitlock, who died in 1948, and Mrs. Mamie Martin, who died in 1954. She is survived by her grandchildren, Rev. Donald Whitlock, Metropolis, J. E. Whitlock, Pontiac, Mich., C. T. Whitlock, Clarkston, Mich., Mrs. Ruth Vance, Claremont, Calif., and Mrs. Bonnie Mann, Peoria. There are 10 great-grandchildren surviving.

Mrs. Hilliard was a member of the First Baptist church in Harrisburg.

The body will lie in state at the Harrisburg funeral home and funeral services will be held in the chapel there at 2 p. m. Sunday. The Rev. R. J. Morman will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Donald Whitlock, and burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery.

How Does It Happen? Fire Department Again Gets Wrong Call

The Harrisburg fire department still would like to know how this could happen:

Yesterday the fire bell rang and Chief L. G. Martin answered the phone. A woman's voice gave him an address on South Second street. Since there is no such street in Harrisburg, Martin told her she had the Harrisburg fire department.

The woman said it was the Eldorado fire department she was wanting.

At this moment Harvey Hicks, local fireman, sent a message to the Eldorado fire department over the police radio, telling them they had a fire on South Second street. It was quite a roundabout way.

This is the second time the Harrisburg fire department has received a call from Eldorado since last fall. And about four or five days ago a call came to the local station when the caller was wanting the Carrier Mills fire department.

Defines 'Executive'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today won't classify anyone as an executive unless he makes at least $80 a week. The Labor Department formerly classified as an executive someone who made $55 a week and had executive duties, which exempted him from the 40-hour week and overtime payments under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

White made the comparison in commenting with annoyance on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's claim that the United States is "old and decadent."

"It is perhaps pertinent to point-out that in the old and decadent system even an unemployed worker receives a higher income than the average fully employed worker in the country Mr. Khrushchev represents," White told reporters.

He said the average jobless American gets about $35 a week in unemployment compensation, compared with about $24 a week in regular pay for an employed Russian.

Violent Seas Pound Coasts

New Storms Threaten California Disaster Region

By United Press

Violent seas which pounded at the nation's aching sides relaxed their force today while heavy rains and high winds carried the fight to the country's midriff.

A spectacular display of ocean fury lashed the Oregon coast Friday, hurling logs, debris and a two-ton whale ashore. New storms threatened in northern California but officials in the disaster region assumed a fatalistic attitude. Good weather or bad, things were bound to get worse, they said.

Cloudy skies and scattered showers continued over the Carolina coast where tides swept into Charleston, S. C., streets Friday.

Thunderstorms, often accompanied by 50-mile-per-hour winds, raked down the Plains states into Texas. More than an inch and a quarter of rain doused Burwell, Neb., and Sioux City, Iowa, received nearly an inch. There were frequent reports of winds above 40-mile-per-hour, and Sherman, Tex., felt the sting of the 50-mile blasts.

The big weather story remained in northern California where 12 persons already have lost their lives in the $12 million onslaught of hail, rain and snow during the past week.

Continuous downpours have affected 4,309 California families, the Red Cross said, and 2,171 homes and 239 businesses were damaged.

California weather officials said the state's condition would be worsened no matter which prevailed, rain or shine. More rain would only multiply damages while a warm spell could melt down snow packs in the High Sierras and send them cascading into the lowlands.

Jobless Pay in U. S. Tops Regular Wage in Russia

BOBBY TAYLOR, upper photo, folds back his bed desk and rests from his studies. In lower photo he uses the desk, made specially for him by the industrial arts department of the Harrisburg Junior high school. He was completing an examination on the Constitution of the United States, a requirement for all Harrisburg Junior high school students, when picture was made. (Daily Register Staff Photos)

Bobby Taylor, Accident Victim, Continues Studies with Bed Desk Made at Junior High

An ingenious "bed desk," planned by George Carr, Harrisburg Junior high school industrial arts instructor, and built by students of his class, makes it possible for Bobby Taylor to continue his eighth grade studies.

Bob, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Taylor, 209 West Raymond street, was seriously injured in an automobile wreck June 27. His injuries included a broken leg and he is still confined to his bed. The left leg, from the foot to the hip, is in a cast and he can be raised only slightly in the hospital-type bed.

So that young Taylor might continue with at least a part of his eighth grade course of study plans were discussed for a bed desk and Mr. Carr and his industrial arts students produced a very efficient article, which can be used on young Taylor's bed at his home.

The desk, made of plywood, consists of a base and movable top.

The top can be made secure at several different angles, or can be folded back flush with the base.

On the right side, facing the bed patient, is a heavy clip to hold papers. On the left side at the bottom is a metal shelf book rest and at the top is a clip constructed so that it will slide up and down to accommodate books of various lengths.

The base of the bed desk has room for pencils, pen, paper.

Since the desk was completed for Bobby, Mr. Carr has experimented and has come up with an idea for folding legs for the base. This would allow the entire desk to be folded very compactly and would take little storage space.

Jack Yates, Junior high school faculty member, goes to the Taylor home five evenings a week and occasionally on Saturday and instructs Bobby for an hour or more in social studies—including English, history, spelling, civics, in fact all studies except mathematics, science and industrial arts.

Mr. Yates declares Bob, who is getting the regular course of instruction including the viewing of film strips prepared for school work, is a good student and keeping up very well with his studies.

The special tutoring began October 1 and with the exception of the times young Taylor was in the hospital for treatment, no days have been lost.

Bobby looks forward to the evening classes and enjoys having friends come by for a visit. "Tell the kids to come by any time. I'll be home," he said with a big smile.

Ex-Bodyguard of Mickey Cohen Fatally Stabbed In Movie Queen's Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—An underworld boy friend of actress Lana Turner was stabbed to death with an eight-inch carving knife Friday night by the movie queen's beautiful 14-year-old daughter.

Johnny Stompanato, one-time bodyguard of Mickey Cohen and former associate of Bugsy Siegel, was found dead by police on the floor outside the door to Miss Turner's bedroom.

Police booked Miss Turner's daughter, Cheryl, on suspicion of murder early today.

Police Lt. F. H. Colford said the stabbing occurred at Miss Turner's home.

Killed After Argument

Beverly Hills Restaurant Stephen Crane, former husband of Lana and father of Cheryl, was summoned to Miss Turner's home immediately after the stabbing to be with his daughter.

Crane told police an argument broke out in Cheryl's bedroom shortly before with Stompanato threatening to kill her mother if she broke off their relationship which had bloomed into a rumored romance.

Police said Miss Turner told them Stompanato threatened "to get me or fix me if I broke off with him."

Stabbed in Stomach

The argument raged from Cheryl's bedroom into Miss Turner's boudoir and reached its climax when Cheryl dashed from the kitchen, carving knife in hand and stabbed Stompanato as he stormed from the actress' bed room.

Thus Stompanato, like his former boss Bugsy Siegel, died violently in a glamor girl's home. Siegel, a California underworld kingpin, was shot to death in the mansion of his girl friend, Virginia Hill.

Lana's physician, a Dr. McDonald, called police about 12:33 a. m., c.s.t. to report the incident. When they arrived they found the swarthy Stompanato dead with part of the eight-inch knife protruding from his stomach.

Rumors of Breakup

There had been rumors that Lana and Stompanato were going to break up. These reports became widespread when Lana and the former Cohen bodyguard started back to Beverly Hills from a holiday at Acapulco.

Police said Lana told them an argument started Friday night and that she had told Stompanato not to quarrel with her in the presence of Cheryl.

Lana, Crane and her attorney, Jerry Giesler, accompanied police and Cheryl to the police station. Geisler and Crane returned to the movie star's home with Lana, leaving Cheryl behind at the station.

Mickey Cohen rushed to the police station as soon as he was told Stompanato had been killed.

"I'm here to claim Johnny's body," Cohen said.

"I can't understand this," Cohen said. "Lana, Johnny and Cheryl and I were all horseback riding early in the day and everything was all right at the time."

A sobbing Cheryl told arresting officers that "there had been a big argument Monday."

"He threatened then to cut and maim mother, and he also threatened my grandmother, if mother broke up with him."

Sought to End Romance

"He told mommy that it may take days, weeks or years but I'll get her sooner or later. If I'm not able to do so, I have friends who will."

Miss Turner said she had been trying to "call it quits" with Stompanato since "we visited London last Christmas. That's when the troubles started."

"I was terrified of him," she said. "He was always threatening me and he has beaten me in the past."

It was the second time in recent years that the younger Miss Turner had made news. Last year she ran away from a swank private school because she tired of it, and was found in a slum area of Los Angeles several days later.

It was only by chance that she was at home Friday night when the argument broke out, having arrived home over last week for Easter vacation from a girl's school in Ojai, Calif.

The Perennially Unemployed

No one needs to be reminded that unemployment is a grave business. It should neither be minimized nor exaggerated as we develop a continuing picture of the economy in 1958.

At the last official accounting, there were some 5,200,000 unemployed in this country. But a good many who today are urging drastic action to cure the current recession talk as if there were none at all when business was at boom levels. They talk as if the necessity is to find 5,200,000 jobs in the immediate future.

That of course represents a distortion of the economic facts of life. Even in the times of high economic pace we have had from two to three million unemployed in the postwar era.

That shifting but ever-present figure represents people who for one reason or another are unemployed—the ill, the disabled, the hopelessly indigent; people who are changing from job to job or city to city, and part-time or seasonal workers.

Let no one try to argue that these unemployed are a measure of this recession. They would be out of work in any times.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Crippling snows illustrate what U. S. would suffer in case of atomic attack: In modern war U. S. would not be immune from attack; hopes for peace appear over Eastern horizon.

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his eldest grandson, Drew Arnold, in California.)

Washington
April 4, 1958

Dear Drew,

It is now the first of April and some of the snow we had two weeks ago is still unmelted in the shadow of the house at the farm. The snow was so heavy it broke all the electric lines. Many people in this part of Maryland and Virginia had no heat or water for days and it made us realize how dependent we have all become on modern conveniences and how helpless we would be in case of an atomic-bomb attack.

At the farm it was the cows which suffered most. When the electricity went off we couldn't run the milking machines and the cows objected to being milked by hand. They kicked over the bucket and kicked Mr. Taylor. They just didn't want to have anything but a machine milking them. You wouldn't think that a cow would get so mechanized, but they have.

I finally got the Generator Rental company in Washington to promise to send an electric generator so we could get enough electricity to run the milkers. They promised to get the generator out by 11 a. m. but they didn't get it there until 10 p. m. I kept calling and calling, but so many people wanted electricity that they came ahead of the cows, and we didn't get them milked until about 11 o'clock at night. That meant about 36 hours of waiting, and the poor cows were in great pain.

COWS GO DRY

After that they dried up. At the next milking we got only five gallons instead of the usual 200. Nature does that to a cow when she can't be milked. She just stops giving milk. It has taken us two weeks of careful feeding to get them back to about 175 gallons.

Of course, when the electricity gave out the water pump stopped and we had no water. We drove the cows to the pond to drink, and the rest of us walked down to the spring to get water. The oil burners also stopped, and some people had to shiver in their homes for almost a week.

When I was your age and visited my grandfather's farm in Kansas, we didn't have electricity or running water or bathrooms. We pumped water out of the well by hand and we had old-fashioned out-houses. Heavy snow didn't make any difference to us.

Later, in Swarthmore, Pa., our family lived in an old house where Benjamin West, the first American artist, was born, and we didn't have electricity either. We used kerosene lamps. Now, your granddaddy is not quite as old as this sounds. But the point is that we have made a lot of progress in the last 50 years and none of us wants to go back to kerosene lamps and outside privies.

However, what a lot of people around Washington began to realize during that last big snow was that we will have to go back to this if we ever get into a war.

You know from reading history at school that the United States has never been attacked on its own continental soil for more than a hundred years—since the British landed in Washington in 1814. When we had to fight wars we have fought them abroad. We haven't known what it was to have our houses blown up, our electricity cut and water turned off.

If there is ever atomic war, however, these things will all happen—right here at home.

This is not a very happy thought to be thinking about at Easter time. But it is much better to think about it than be unprepared. And one trouble with some of our leaders in government is that they have been going around with their heads in the clouds saying we had nothing to worry about from Russia, that Russia is a nation of peasants. However, they are smart people and also, I believe, peace-loving people. I am sure the little boys of Russia don't hate you any more than you hate them. I am sure you would have a good time playing with each other.

And if we just get better acquainted with each other we don't have to hate or be suspicious of each other. People who know each other and like each other don't fight one another.

Recently the Russians have been surprisingly good about letting people into their country. They used to have what we called an "iron curtain" to keep people out. But now they seem anxious and willing to get acquainted with us. When a friend of mine went to Moscow he said he couldn't buy a meal for himself on the train because so many Russians wanted to entertain him and make him feel at home.

Getting acquainted with people who are a long way off and speak a different language isn't easy. But it's easier than fighting a war. And what all of us have to realize is that either we work at peace hard, very hard, or else we are going to have our water and electricity shut off, with crowded hospitals also shut off, in the worst war in history. Russia will face the same shutouts and the same bombings, but they don't have so much electricity and so many people depending on modern conveniences as we do.

Well, that's a lot for a small boy to think about. But Easter time, when we are paying homage to him who taught us peace on earth, good will to men, is the time to think about the things he stood for, instead of spending too much time thinking about new clothes.

Give George and Joe a big hug. Lots of love,

Your Grandfather.

county candidates, Paul Dorris of Carterville and Carl Sneed of Herrin.

The 25th Congressional district is composed of 15 counties as follows:

Saline Gallatin, Williamson, Jackson, Union, Johnson, Pope, Hardin, Alexander, Pulaski, Massac, Randolph, Perry, Franklin and Monroe.

State central committee candidates from the Illinois 25th, who will be elected in the primary, are Charles A. Jean on the Republican ticket and L. Oard Sitter on the Democratic. Both are from Anna. In the 51st Senatorial district race in Saline, Hardin, Pope, Johnson and Massac counties, Gordon E. Kerr of Brookport is the lone Republican candidate. He has served as a state representative for years. There is a contest on the Democratic ticket between T. Leo Dodd of Eldorado and Ray Beggs of Metropolis.

Representative Race

There will be a November race for state representative from this area for the first time since 1936 as each party will nominate two in April with three to be elected in November. Since the 1936 primary the Democrats have nominated one, the Republicans two, with the three securing nomination in April assured of election in November. Counties in the 59th are Saline, Hamilton, Williamson, Pope, Hardin, Johnson, Massac and Gallatin.

Last time Democrats had two seats in the state house of representatives was in 1932, when John David Upchurch of Eldorado and Frank Porter of McLeansboro were elected. The Democrats nominated two candidates again in 1934 and 1936, but elected only one, and since then had nominated but one until this year.

The state representative race from the 59th district has four candidates, C. L. McCormick, incumbent from Vienna, Eugene Choisser of Eldorado, Homer Butler of Marion and Delmer R. Mitchell of Johnston City fighting for the two Republican nominations and Paul Powell, incumbent from Vienna, Waymen LeRoy Welborn Jr. of Pittsburg and K. Neil Thurmond of Johnston City seeking the two Democratic nominations.

Russia's Offer Branded Cheap Grandstand Play

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials today branded as a "cheap grandstand play" Russia's "offer" to accept international supervision of a nuclear test ban if this country and Britain would suspend their tests.

The "offer" was made by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a speech Friday at Budapest prodigal America and Britain to "follow the Soviet example" in calling off further tests.

The two Western allies have refused to do this in the absence of an overall disarmament agreement linking a halt in nuclear tests to a halt in nuclear production for military purposes, both subject to international inspection.

"Offer" Wasn't Formal

U. S. officials pointed out Khrushchev didn't spell out how effective an inspection system he was willing to accept. They also noted the Russian "offer" wasn't made formally through diplomatic channels.

Furthermore, they said: "Despite Khrushchev's words to the contrary, Russia has been refusing for years to accept proposals for an inspection system on either nuclear testing or overall disarmament."

Moscow only recently declared it would boycott any meeting of the 25-nation United Nations Disarmament Commission where an inspection agreement could be worked out. It also voted against a U. N. resolution calling for an international agreement on halting both tests and nuclear production under international controls.

chell of Johnston City fighting for the two Republican nominations and Paul Powell, incumbent from Vienna, Waymen LeRoy Welborn Jr. of Pittsburg and K. Neil Thurmond of Johnston City seeking the two Democratic nominations.

To Elect Committeemen

State candidates on the ticket are Louis E. Beckman and Warren E. Wright, Republicans for state treasurer; Joseph D. Lohman, Democrat for state treasurer; Lar Daly and Gerald W. Smith, Republicans for state superintendent of public instruction; and George T. Wilkins, Democratic candidate for this post.

In addition to the nominations, both parties will elect representative and precinct committeemen.

Running for 59th district Democratic representative committeeman is Ezra Heatherly and for Republican representative committeeman the candidate is W. K. (Tim) Turner. Thirty-four precinct committeemen will be elected by each party in Saline county.

The victims were identified as: Torrance Flook, 40, father of the children, Mrs. Maude Blair, the grandmother, and Harry, 16; Bonnie, 12; Terry, 10; Susan, 9; Kenneth, 7; Ruth, 5; Dick, 4, and Billy, 1.

Seize $136,000 Bogus Money; Two Arrested

CHICAGO (AP) — Secret Service agents seized $136,000 in bogus money and arrested the president of a Chicago printing firm and an employee on charges of printing counterfeit money.

Arraigned on three counterfeit charges Friday were Dennis G. Recktenwald, 34, of suburban Northbrook, president of the D and R specialties and advertising letter service, and John Thomas Hagen, 18, Chicago.

Agents said Recktenwald admitted printing the money and led agents to Hagen's home where counterfeit bills in denominations of $5 and $10 were found. Four plates used to print the money and negatives used in the operation also were discovered, agents said.

Paul J. Paterni, special agent in charge of secret service here, described the plates as "excellent in every detail," although the paper used had no threads.

Recktenwald, a graduate of Ohio State University's electrical and industrial engineering school, served as a Marine Corps staff sergeant in World War II. Hagen is a graduate of Crane Technical high school where he studied printing, Paterni said.

Girl, 6, Falls from Mother's Auto, Critically Injured

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Phyllis Lynn Funkhouser, 6, Decatur, was critically injured Friday when she fell from her mother's automobile and was run over by a wheel of the vehicle.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Funkhouser here, the child was reported in critical condition at St. Mary's Hospital. She and several other youngsters were en route to a birthday party at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Funkhouser told authorities a door of her car came open as she was backing the vehicle out of her driveway, and the little girl fell from the car.

Eisenhower Combines Work, Play at Farm; Attends Church Services

GETTYSBURG Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower combined work, play and rest today on the second full day of a long Easter week end at his 500-acre farm.

A number of bills Congress passed before it recessed Thursday were sent here from Washington for the President's approval or disapproval. But he was not expected to act on the $5,500,000 highway bill today.

The President and his wife attended Good Friday services at the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church.

Says Adlai Still Demos' Best

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, twice defeated in his bids for the presidency, remains the Democratic Party's "best hope in 1960," according to Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.)

Neuberger said Friday it has become increasingly apparent the 1960 nominee will not only carry the election but will be a person of "extraordinary talent and foresight."

This description most nearly fits the former governor of Illinois, Neuberger said in a stop-over here, "particularly in the field of international events."

The Oregon Democrat said that "recent international developments in the field of nuclear testing only serve to heighten the wisdom of what Stevenson said during the 1956 campaign.

"Current studies of the perils of radioactive fallout likewise underscore the prophetic qualities of Gov. Stevenson's warnings of two years ago," he said. Stevenson had made nuclear controls an important issue in the 1956 campaign and warned repeatedly of the dangers of Strontium-90.

"It's my opinion Stevenson continues to be the best hope of the Democratic Party," Neuberger said.

Clouds, Rain and Snow Predicted for Most of U. S. Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most of the country can expect clouds, rain, and snow Easter Sunday except for New England, the Weather Bureau said.

New England was promised fair, sunny skies.

The least Easter-like weather—snow—was predicted for the mountains of California east into Utah. Rain and showers were forecast for the already flood-hit Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain area.

I PET. 4:11

Church of Christ

Charles L. Wall, Minister

GOD'S WAY AND MAN'S SUBSTITUTION
Col. 3:17

After a person has rendered obedience to the gospel of Christ then the Lord adds them to the Church. (Acts 2:47).

Man's idea is that a person can join the Church of their choice. Where is this taught in the New Testament?

The Lord never did recognize but one Church. That was the one that he spoke about in Matt. 16:18. He had to die that cruel death before it was established.

Thus, we see it's the Lord that does the adding to His Church after they have obeyed His gospel. We don't join the Church of our Lord, but he adds us to it. This is done when people meet his terms concerning salvation.

Wins Journalism Award at SIU

Joyce Brinkley

For the second year, Joyce Brinkley, 20-year-old junior from Equality, has won the Journalism Students Association award at Southern Illinois University.

Miss Brinkley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brinkley, was named the winner at an annual Journalism Day Dinner Thursday at the University. She also received the award last year.

A committee of students and faculty members made the selection, which was based on scholarship, activities, and need. Funds for the $100 stipend are raised through JSA projects.

Miss Brinkley, who was valedictorian of her senior class at Equality Township high school, is president of Beta Omicron, SIU honorary organization for women in journalism, and is serving her third term as JPA secretary-treasurer.

"A news-editorial major, she is preparing for a career in metropolitan journalism."

Mother of Year to Be Guest of Honor at SIU Women's Day April 24

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Elbert Fulkerson, Carbondale, "mother-of-the-year" for 1958 will be guest of honor at Women's Day at Southern Illinois University April 24.

Gov't to Extend Reseal Program For Surplus Grain

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today it will offer to extend "reseal" programs under which farmers store their own surplus grain to 1957-crop grain sorghums.

The department added it also will offer to permit extension for another year of price support loans on 1956-crop farm-stored barley and oats now under reseal.

Normally when price support loans mature at the end of a marketing season, farmers deliver the surplus crop to the government. When the crop stored on the farm is resealed, the support loan is extended and the government pays the farmer storage charges for holding the commodity.

The department said state agricultural stabilization committees will determine whether the new authority for grain sorghums, barley and oats should be used in their states.

SPECIAL CHAIRMAN — Joan Crawford will represent the entertainment industry as special honorary chairman for the 14th annual National Sunday School Week observance. Miss Crawford is the mother of four children. The all-faiths event is set for the week of April 14-20.

NORWEGIAN HOGS FOR PURINA RESEARCH FARM—Dr. Harold L. Wilcke, Assistant Director of Research for the Ralston Purina Company, inspects a recently imported shipment of three Yorkshire gilts and a Yorkshire boar at the Purina Research Farm near Gray Summit, Missouri. Dr. Wilcke personally selected the hogs from the Tomb Agriculture School herd at Raade, Norway, last summer. The dams of these hogs had been imported to Norway from Finland the year before. Dr. Wilcke was in Europe as one of six industry representatives of the U. S. Government at the International Trade Fair at Poznan, Poland. After the Fair was concluded, he went to Norway to select the hogs for the Purina research herd. They were obtained to cross on Yorkshires in one of the swine herds at the Purina farm to produce a heavier boned, meatier type animal.

(A round-up of the week's work, activities, and observations at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station near Robbs in southern Illinois, prepared by H. A. Cate)

Each spring before the cattle breeding season starts, George Cmarik is faced with the job of picking a breed-new set of bulls. He must select bulls not simply for one herd, but for three distinct and separate herds—a control herd, an early-fattening herd and a rapid-gaining herd. George has 25 two-year-old bulls from which to select. These include eight bulls from the control herd, eight from the early-fattening group and nine from the fast-gaining herd.

Picking bulls for the control line is easy. It is strictly a chance selection, and George does nothing more than draw a number out of a hat. This is a laughable way of selecting a bull unless you have the same interest as George. This type of selecting, for both bulls and heifers, over a period of years will result in a herd of cattle no worse or no better than they are today. George wants to use this herd as a gauge to measure the amount of advance in the other two herds.

Early-Fattening Line Selection
In selecting bulls for the early-fattening line, George must use a little more science. These bulls will be selected for their fattening ability, particularly early fattening, during a winter feeding period on a ration that is about half roughage and half concentrate.

Fast-Gaining Bull Selection
Bulls to be used on the fast-gaining line of cattle will be selected by the scales. Bulls that have gained or grown fastest will be selected. Bulls to be used this year on the fast-gaining herd have, from weaning to two years of age, gained 5 to 7 percent faster than those in the other two lines.

Changing Bulls Every Year
Most cattle breeders keep a bull several years if he is any good at all, and in most cases at least three years. George changes bulls every year on the theory that he will make progress three times as fast. He hopes to make as much progress in 10 to 15 years as ordinarily can be made in a lifetime.

Ear Corn and Sorghum Head Silage
Yearling steers on both the ear corn silage and the cane head silage are making acceptable gains at a little over two pounds a head daily. After two months of feeding, the steers are on a full feed of both silages, eating about 35 to 40 pounds a day in addition to 3 to 4 pounds of hay and 1 1/4 pounds of soybean oil meal. The ear corn silage is about 58 percent water and the cane head silage is about 50 percent water, so they are getting 18 to 28 pounds of dry matter a day in the silage alone. The cattle relish the feed or they wouldn't eat these amounts. Both feeds have a sweet, good silage smell.

Notes from Home Adviser

By L. B. KIMMEL
In checking 25 or 30 farms in the county in the last two weeks I find that fall-seeded small grain, alfalfa and clovers, are severely damaged by pulling and heaving of the plant during freezing and thawing conditions of past winter months.

The questions asked are what should I do? I doubt if one answer will fit all situations. If the wheat is 60% intact it should be left, and, if starter fertilizer was used, top dressing with nitrogen should give good returns. I suggest 80 to 100 pounds of 33-3% ammonia nitrate per acre on wheat. This small amount can safely be applied either before or after clover seed is sown on the ground.

Nitrogen can be used until the wheat is about six inches high, but of course, the earlier it is done the less damage to a few leaves on which some of the pellets may lodge.

Nitrogen can be used until the wheat is about six inches high, but of course, the earlier it is done the less damage to a few leaves on which some of the pellets may lodge.

If the stand of wheat is less than 60%, you will decide whether to try to harvest the wheat or plow it up for corn, soybeans, or some other crop. Cheat may take over some of the bare spots and reduce the quality of wheat as well as the bushels of wheat.

Winter barley probably is damaged more than wheat while some winter oats are 50 to 100% winter killed and should be plowed up. Good seed wheat may be a problem next fall so if you have a good field of Knox, Vermillion or Seneca wheat you might be able to sell it for seed. A lot of wheat will be full of cheat from present appearance of Southern Illinois wheat fields.

Now the question for alfalfa. It's the same story. Some alfalfa is pulled out on top of the ground or the root broken below the ground line. Some of it will have to be plowed up and reseeded. Very few fields, unless well drained, have escaped partial winter killing.

Heavy rainfall, very little snow cover, and alternate freezing and thawing has caused the damage to crops that stand over the winter.

Those who have seeded clover in wheat will let it stand for what it will make. The clover should have less competition from heavy straw growth this season.

LANDSCAPING MEETING

APRIL 8-9
The extension council and Farm and Home Advisers planned winter meetings for the county, to interest as many county people as possible. One topic which several requested was a landscaping meeting to assist co-operators in making home grounds and buildings more attractive.

A few well placed shrubs and evergreens can make a difference in the appearance of the landscape. These can be expensive or very reasonable depending upon how much you know about them and where they should be located.

S.I.U. Country Column

By Albert Meyer
What precautions for safety do you take during thunderstorms? Perhaps the season of severe electrical storms is a month or two away, but it is approaching swiftly. To maintain common sense respect for lightning during spring thunderstorms is a must unless you are ready to quit living.

A bolt of lightning may splinter a towering oak, set buildings on fire, or destroy the life of man or beast. When it has hit the ground its mission is over, but the damage it may have caused enroute depends upon what has served as the point of contact, what served as the conductor, and how this object was grounded.

Farm safety advisers emphasize that you are in danger from lightning if you are on a tractor or other piece of farm machinery, or even when standing in an open field or on high ground. Here you become a kind of lightning rod for the electrical charge that is seeking a route from the storm clouds to the ground. Seeking shelter under a lone tree in a field, standing near a wire fence or near livestock in the field is equally dangerous.

charge by coming to an evening meeting at the Farm Bureau Building at 7:30 P. M. April 8. Farm or City property have similar problems in landscaping. Any interested person is welcome to attend.

The second day, April 9th, the program will consist of a tour to two or three farms to discuss problems of landscaping with the owners and to answer questions of interest to those on the tour.

Dr. Kemmerer from University of Illinois will be the speaker and work with individuals on special problems.

I am sure you have noticed homes where a few shrubs would change the appearance for the better. A few dollars spent in landscaping will often times cause a building to sell for several hundred dollars more than without them.

I think we have all observed that beautiful homes have some well placed trees and shrubs around them in the proper location. If you want to learn how to do this, attend the meeting at 7:30 p. m. April 8th.

an extra effort to brightening up the interior of the home, so why not take a day for springing up generally around the farmstead before the busy days of field work arrive?

Gather up all the old scrap iron, abandoned pieces of farm machinery, and other odds and ends and haul the stuff to the junk yard. It likely will bring enough money to pay for the gasoline used and leave the farmstead neater. Clean up the winter's accumulation of other rubbish. Convert that useless old pile of lumber near the barnlot into kindling and store it in a dry place for future use.

Not only will this cleaning improve the general appearance of the farm home but it will eliminate hiding places for rats and mice which annually account for huge losses to farmers through destruction of feed, poultry, and property.

'The Church's Assurance of Victory'

John 20:26-29; Ephesians 1:15-29 GOLDEN TEXT: "Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen." (Eph. 3:20-21).

INTRODUCTION—The darkest day in the history of this world was the Jewish sabbath day that Jesus lay in the tomb. To all the world that day it seemed that the church had reached its end before it had hardly gotten started.
However, the brightest day in the history of the world was the day which followed the darkest day. Early on the third day, Sunday, Jesus arose up from the grave. He conquered death and the tomb!

"Up from the grave He arose
With a might triumph o'er His foes
He arose the victor from the dark domain
And He lives forever with His saints to reign.
He arose! He arose! Hallelujah!
Christ arose!

I "MY LORD AND MY GOD"
(John 20:26-29)

Have you ever missed a church service and later wished you had been present? This very thing happened to Thomas. The rest of the Apostles had gathered for worship and prayer. Thomas was absent. The risen Lord appeared to them in his resurrected body. Thomas missed this blessing. You never know what blessings you miss when you absent yourself from worship services!

Jesus told the Apostles later to meet him in the Upper Room. He sent a special invitation to Thomas. At this meeting Thomas was present with all his doubts. Yes, by the way, missing worship services causes one to doubt.
Thomas had said that unless he could place his hands in the prints of the nails and sword in Jesus' hands and feet and side, he would not believe.

Note, however, that when Jesus now comes into the presence of the Apostles that Thomas does not wait to feel the prints. He falls on his face before Jesus and cries: "My Lord and My God!"

II "YES OF UNDERSTAND-ING" (Eph. 1:15-18)

Faith is basic in Christianity.
It is the "eyes of understanding" to spiritual things. It is absolutely useless for a person who is not a Christian to try to understand spiritual things. The very learned person, who can quote scripture, but who is not a Christian, has no spiritual guidance.
He may quote scripture with his lips, but he has no real understanding in his mind and heart.
The riches of glory of heaven,
the assurance of one's salvation in Christ Jesus, and the close Christian fellowship enjoyed by Christians, is made possible through the "eyes of understanding," even our faith in Him!

III "EXCEEDING GREAT RESURRECTION" (Eph. 1: 19-21)

The very same power that brought Jesus up out of the grave victorious over death, is the power that brings men up out of spiritual death and darkness to spiritual life and light. That power is "exceeding great."

By this same power, every Christian shall conquer death and the grave. The time will come when the "trumpet of God will sound and the Christian dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall all be changed." (1 Corinthians 15:52). This shall happen, "in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye." "The exceeding great power to usward who believe" makes this possible.

"We serve a risen Savior! He's in this world today. We know that He is living, whatever men may say! We see His hand of mercy. We hear His voice of cheer, and just the time we need Him, He's always near. He lives!
He lives! Christ Jesus

CONCLUSION (Eph. 1:22-23)
This great assurance of power through our risen Savior is given to His church. Members of his church enjoy a fellowship not known in any other institution or organization. We are invited with Him in daily living and fellowship. He is the answer to every situation and problem in life. He is a wonderful Savior! He has exceeding great power over heaven and earth. It is wonderful to serve a risen Savior!

lives today! He walks with me and talks with me along life's narrow way. He lives! He lives!
Salvation to impart. You ask me how I know he lives? He lives within my heart!"

FROM THE DIARY
OF OUR DESTINY

And very early in the morning the first day of the week... at the rising of the sun...

Thus begins the most amazing account of human experience ever written. And so simply, with just a notation of time:
the hour, the day, the very moment!

But like a church bell sounding its call to worship, that simple notation of time has become the clarion of a New Life.

So deeply has it penetrated our preoccupation with the routine of every-day existence that millions gather at sunrise to greet the dawn of each Easter Day.

What has given such meaning to one moment in time?

Its PROMISE: Christ is risen. The One Who said, because I live, ye shall live also—He lives!

This tremendous moment, for all who worship Him in faith, became the first entry in the Diary of our Destiny.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values.
Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Musial, Spahn Set for Banner Year; Roberts at Crossroads of Career

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Stan Musial and Warren Spahn, two of the grand old pros of baseball, are set for another banner season but Robin Roberts definitely stands at the crossroads of his career.

That is the almost unanimous consensus of the players, managers and other experts encountered by this wandering reporter during six weeks in major league training camps. Almost no one doubts the ability of Musial and Spahn to keep going and almost no one is willing to predict that Roberts "will make it all the way back."

Musial, who won his seventh batting title at the age of 37 last season, reported at 185 pounds and has been hitting well over 300 in the Cardinals' exhibition games. His splendid condition is so obvious that Cardinal Manager Fred Hutchinson quips: "All he had to do to get ready was run a little in the outfield just in case he hit a triple."

Spahn, a 21-game winner for the Braves last season, also looks as sound as ever despite his 36 years and the wear and tear of 13 big league seasons.

"It's possible he'll stop all of a sudden," says Manager Fred Haney. "But there's no sign of it in the foreseeable future."

Roberts, who at 31 could be in his prime, is an entirely different story, however. Robin, who won 20 or more games six straight years from 1950 through 1955, slumped to 10-22 last season and the consensus among the players who hit against him this spring is that he must change his style. "He just can't keep throwing his fast ball for strikes," says Phil lies Manager Mayo Smith. "He needs to master a new type of control-pitching to spots and nicks the corners of the plate."

Venturi Holds Masters Lead In First Half

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Favored Ken Venturi, after surviving the biggest golf crisis of his life, today took a one-stroke lead into the second half of the 22nd Masters tournament.

The slim, 27-year-old San Franciscan, who saw his four-under-par card melt on the cold, damp front nine at the Augusta National Golf Club course Friday, proved he had it in the clutch by touring the back side in 32 strokes for an even par 72.

He had one bogey and five birdies, including one-under-par scores on each of the last three holes, to pull even with par despite his near disastrous 40 on the front nine. The effort gave Venturi—professional golf's leading money winner until he slipped into second place by skipping the Azalea Open last week at Wilmington, N. C.—a 36-hole card of 140.

Patton Has Best Round

That was a bare stroke ahead of little Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and amateur Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., who played with Venturi Friday and posted the day's best score, a 69.

Masters record holder Ben Hogan, who failed to make the top 40 a year ago, barely squeezed into the field this time. His 77 Friday gave him exactly the required number.

Two strokes behind Venturi, with 142, were Canadian star Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Bo Wininger of Odessa.

Cary Middlecoff of Hollywood, Fla., who was bounced from the top 40 last year, was still in contention with a 143 this time, as were veterans Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., and youngsters Arnold Palmer of Lathrobe, Pa., and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla.

Defending champion Doug Ford, the forgotten man of the 1958 Masters, was five strokes off the pace with 145, exactly the same card he had at the halfway point last year when he was the same number of strokes behind the leader.

Gavilan Wins 'Rubber' Match With Tiger Jones

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Comeback Kid Gavilan, heartened by his "rubber" match triumph over Ralph (Tiger) Jones, set his sights today on the welterweight title he once held, and beyond that—the middleweight crown.

"My biggest ambition in life is a shot at the welterweight title," the "Keed" from Camaguey said. "After that, I want to fight for the middleweight championship. I think I can take Sugar Ray Robinson and I've already beaten Carmen Basilio."

The 32-year-old Gavilan can still dip into his story past for his famous left hook to help his quest for a return to the throne room.

The blow smashed into the blow turned every tide and enabled him to gain a hard fought split decision triumph over Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., in their nationally televised bout Friday night.

Gavilan gained his triumph, his 105th in a 15-year career, on the votes of judges Jim Mina and Nate Lopinson. Mina scored it 47-44 in favor of Gavilan under Pennsylvania's five-point-must system. Lopinson went 47-43 for Gavilan.

Referee Joe Sweeney saw it 46-44 for Jones. United Press had it 45-42 for Gavilan.

The defeat was the 22nd for Jones in 71 bouts. Gavilan has fought in 141 matches.

Dusty Rhodes Sent to Minors

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Outfielder Jim (Dusty) Rhodes, vowing he would be back, today was on his way to the minors to regain the batting eye that once made him a terror in the majors.

Giants manager Bill Rigney notified Rhodes Friday he had been optioned to the Phoenix Giants of the Pacific Coast League in the hope he would begin hitting again like he did in 1954, when he became a national hero for his feats at the plate.

Merchants Nine To Practice

The Harrisburg Merchants baseball team, formerly known as the VFW, will hold its second practice of the season Sunday at 1:30 p. m. Many of last year's squad is practicing and any new players wishing to try out are invited out Sunday.

The team plans on entering the Oil Belt League again this season. Last season in the eight-team league the locals ended in the regular season in second place and then won first place in the playoffs.

TAKE IT FROM HERE—Fred Haney hands a ball to Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves in Bradenton, Fla., and tells the right-hander to pick up where he left off last fall when he became the first pitcher in 37 years to complete and win three World Series games. There's no reason why he can't.

Terry, Pawn in Trade with Yankees, Goes Route in Second Straight Win for A's

By United Press

The Kansas City Athletics are chortling today in the belief they "put one over" on the mighty New York Yankees when they acquired Ralph Terry.

Terry was a mere pawn last summer when the Yankees and Athletics swung their big deal involving Billy Martin and Harry Simpson but he's developed so fast that Kansas City coach Spud Chandler, an ex-Yankee pitching great, says he can win 20 games this year.

"He's got all the tools to do it," said Chandler after Terry went the route for the second time this spring in a 5-1 victory Friday over the Pittsburgh Pirates. "I wouldn't trade Terry for any pitcher in the league, except possibly Herb Score, and that goes for Whitey Ford and Billy Pierce."

Shut Out Phillies

Terry had only a 5-12 record last season but in 1956 had a 13-4 mark at Denver and late that season was impressive in a couple of starting assignments against the Boston Red Sox. In Terry's previous outing he shut out the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-0, and he now has pitched 22 consecutive innings without permitting an earned run.

Two other games — both at night — were played on Good Friday. A two run homer by Frank Robinson sparked the Cincinnati Redlegs to a 6-3 victory over the Washington Senators while the Chicago White Sox edged the St. Louis Cardinals 6-5, on Sherm Lollar's two-out single in the ninth inning.

Tighe Blasts Players

At Lakeland, Fla., meanwhile the Detroit Tigers drew a blast from Manager Jack Tighe, who was angered at the team's lack-lustre performance in a pair of exhibition games with Charleston and Augusta. He criticized Al Kaline, Ray Boone, pitcher Bob Shaw and Gail Harris. The Tigers have a 6-15 record on the Grapefruit circuit.

Casey Stengel announced that Tony Kubek will be the Yankees' new shortstop this year and that Norm Siebern will play left field. Kubek's insertion at short moves Gil McDougald from that post to second base.

The Philadelphia Phillies promoted rookie first-baseman Frank Herrera to their roster and Manager Mayo Smith indicated he will open the season at that post. Herrera, a Cuban, hit .304 for Miami in the International League last season.

According to the Bureau of the Census, approximately 40 per cent of America's population will exceed 45 years of age by 1980.
